Georgia Anderson (pictured right) once posed for 'Playboy' magazine as one of the 'Seven Sexiest Businesswomen on Wall Street'. But don't judge her just on her looks. See for yourself, as Georgia comes under the spotlight in our latest 60 Second Interview.

Q - How long have you been in the industry, and what is your current job title ?

A - 5 Years. I'm currently CEO of Georgia Anderson Financial News Network, a social network for traders and investors interested in a social environment to connect with each other and share their experiences.

Q - Did you have a mentor and, if so, who ?

A - I don't have one specific mentor, as I feel that I learn something from everyone. I believe that everyone has something to contribute.

Q - Are you by nature a pessimist or an optimist ?

A - I am an optimist by nature. I guess it's the environment that I was brought up in to always see the positive in any situation.

Q - Which business leader do you admire the most and why ?

A - Mark Zuckerberg. I have a great deal of admiration for his genius.

I'd like to explore how he thinks; his mind intrigues me.

Q - What's the biggest lesson you have learned in your career to date ?

A - The lesson I learned is to be careful who you surround yourself with and be blessed when you have good people that contribute to the overall success of your company.

Q - What's your favorite business quotation or life motto ?

A - 'Show Me The Money!'

Q - What's the best business book you've ever read ?

A - The Secret by Rhonda Byrne.

Visit The Georgia Anderson Financial News Network at www.gafnn.com

Georgia Anderson (pictured right) once posed for 'Playboy' magazine as one of the 'Seven Sexiest Businesswomen on Wall Street'. But don't judge her just on her looks. See for yourself, as Georgia comes under the spotlight in our latest 60 Second Interview.

Q - How long have you been in the industry, and what is your current job title ?
A - 5 Years. I'm currently CEO of Georgia Anderson Financial News Network, a social network for traders and investors interested in a social environment to connect with each other and share their experiences.
Q - Did you have a mentor and, if so, who ?
A - I don't have one specific mentor, as I feel that I learn something from everyone. I believe that everyone has something to contribute.

Q - Are you by nature a pessimist or an optimist ?
A - I am an optimist by nature. I guess it's the environment that I was brought up in to always see the positive in any situation.

Q - Which business leader do you admire the most and why ?

A - Mark Zuckerberg. I have a great deal of admiration for his genius. I'd like to explore how he thinks; his mind intrigues me.

Q - What's the biggest lesson you have learned in your career to date ?
A - The lesson I learned is to be careful who you surround yourself with and be blessed when you have good people that contribute to the overall success of your company.

Q - What's your favorite business quotation or life motto ?
A - 'Show Me The Money!'
Q - What's the best business book you've ever read ?
A - The Secret by Rhonda Byrne.
Visit The Georgia Anderson Financial News Network at www.gafnn.com